PATIO ROOF IN A CUBO DESIGN

CUBO

NEW DESIGN FEATURES

What's new with the CUBO?

The CUBO saddle roof allows you to offer entirely different roof dimensions and serve new customer segments. The specially designed ridge connector preserves the flat roof appearance, even with roof depths of up to 6 m. The new T-jointer connects two support profiles so that roof widths of up to 12 m can be realised.

Your advantages

- Roof constructions of up to 12×6 m can be realised with only one middle post
- Solid structure – also withstands high snow loads
- Different corner and middle support variants available to choose from

T-jointers

- The custom-made T-jointer is the ideal solution for support profile butts.
- Invisible, rigid and easy-to-assemble connection.
- Can be realised with the standard support (170×90mm) or the new, slim corner post (90×90mm).

Tension wire

- The tension wire absorbs the horizontal forces resulting from the snow load.
- Prevents deformation of the support profiles.
- M10 thread and counter nut allow easy adjustment.

Ridge connector/ridge bar

- A steel bracket is inserted into the top and bottom profile chamber of the rafter support 165i – this guarantees a solid structure.
- Roof widths of up to 6 m can be realised.
- The easy-to-insert ridge bar with bolted clamping strip supports the roof inclination.

Special foot bracket

- The solution for free-standing roofs: also without sleeve foundation.
- Easy assembly through height adjustment.

More new products and innovations

Spout gully

- The elegant option for lateral drainage.
- The cubic aesthetic is preserved with a coated square pipe (60×60mm).

Corner post 90×90

- Elegant profile view thanks to the slim yet solid corner post.
- Can be used with free-standing roofs.

Mounting bracket for rooftop awning

- Mounting consoles coated in system colour.
- Can be used with all standard awning systems.
